BUILDING MOVE SO SUCCESSFUL, LASA MOVES AGAIN

AVUH DAY LION | professional gaslighter

The move to the new LASA campus was extremely successful this year, so much so that everyone has agreed to move again next year. Students were so happy when they did not have AC during the first semester that LASA decided to move outside where there would be no AC at all. Introducing: LASA unplugged and underfunded.

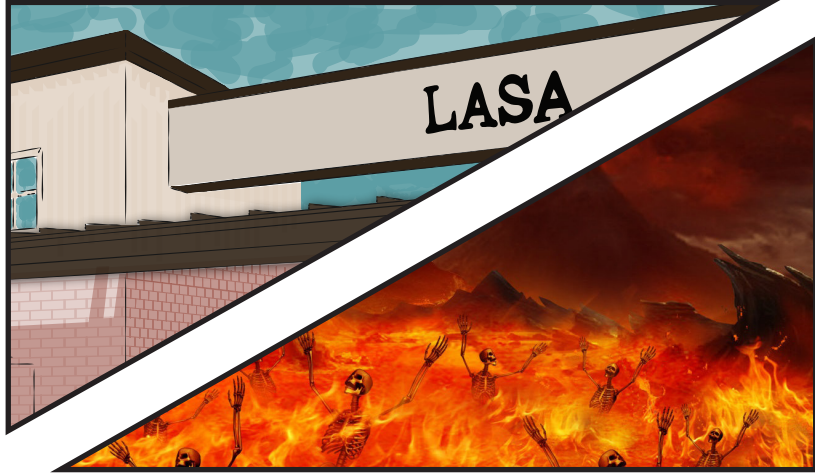

After LASA's split from LBJ Early College High School, there were a lot of apprehensions about the new campus, but after a successful first week of school, students and teachers agreed that the school had many positive aspects, including ants, electrical snafus, and dripping pipes. According to senior and avid arthropod collector Stephanie Emanekaf, the water dripping from the ceilings and the ants in every classroom added character to the building.

"It was like being in an indoor water park, except you didn't know if it was water or something else," Emanekaf said. "Plus, having the ants around was like having a new best friend in every class. To be honest, I kind of miss the ants, but I'm sure there will be plenty at the new campus."

Among other positive experiences in the new LASA building this year was the Taking Care of Business Early (TCBE) day in August. Students waited in the sweltering sun to collect their books and other supplies inside the building where the fire alarms were being tested every fifteen minutes. Sophomore John Puedam said he had fun coming to campus for the first time.

"My friends and I had so much fun that day," Puedam said. "One of my friends even had a heat stroke! We made up raps to the deafening alarm going off every couple of minutes. I also feel like shared trauma is usually, so hard to come by, so TCBE was nice in that way."

... no?

1. WE COMMIT ATROCITIES SO WE CAN HAVE SOMETHING INTERESTING TO WRITE ABOUT.

all the professionals do it!

2. WE USED TO INTERVIEW PEOPLE ABOUT STUFF OR WHATEVER BUT IT'S WAYYYY EASIER TO MAKE UP QUOTES SO NOW WE JUST DO THAT.

we're all empaths so we know what they were going to say anyways.

3. OUR STAFFERS TALK ABOUT THE EVENTS THEY'RE WRITING ABOUT IN A SORT OF STREAM OF CONSCIOUSNESS AND OUR RESIDENT TYPEWRITER MONKEY WRITES IT ALL DOWN VERBATIM

i know what you're thinking. yes it's the same monkey that wrote all of shakespeare's classics in one sitting!

LASA Makes Existensial Crises a Sport

ZOOEY KLINE | editor of some variety

HAVE YOU EVER HAD AN EXISTENTIAL CRISIS? HAVE YOU EVER KNOWN ANYONE WHO HAD AN EXISTENTIAL CRISIS? IF YOU'RE READING THIS, YOU'VE PROBABLY BEEN WITHIN TWO MILES OF A LASA STUDENT, SO THE ANSWER IS PROBABLY YES.

IF YOU ARE WORRIED ABOUT YOUR PEERS, YOU'RE PROBABLY RIGHT TO BE. BUT FEAR NOT! LASA STUDENTS CAN NOW APPLY THEIR POOR MENTAL HEALTH TO COMPETITION. AFTER THE QUNIVERSITY INTERSCHOLASTIC LEAGUE (QIL) ADDED EXISTENTIAL CRISES TO THEIR REPERTOIRE OF 2022 COMPETITIONS FOR STUDENTS TO COMPETE IN, LASA STUDENTS ADVANCED TO NATIONALS.

QIL'S EXISTENTIAL CRISIS COMPETITION CONSISTS OF THREE ROUNDS. IN THE FIRST ROUND, STUDENTS ENUMERATE THEIR EXISTENTIAL CRISES IN VIVID DETAIL. IN THE SECOND, THEY EXPLAIN THEIR LACK OF COPING MECHANISMS FOR SUCH CRISES. IN THE THIRD, STUDENTS ARE REQUIRED TO CRY AS HARD AS THEY POSSIBLY CAN BEFORE RETURNING TO THEIR MULTIVARIABLE CALCULUS HOMEWORK AND GETTING AS MANY QUESTIONS INCORRECT AS POSSIBLE. EACH ROUND IS SCORED OUT OF THREE-AND-A-HALF POINTS.

"I'M FRIENDS WITH A LOT OF LASA STUDENTS," McCALLUM SENIOR CARDEN ARELLANO SAID. "AND, LIKE, I'VE SEEN A LOT OF EXISTENTIAL CRISES HAPPEN. WHEN I FOUND OUT THAT ONE OF MY FRIENDS WAS GOING TO NATIONALS FOR QIL EXISTENTIAL CRISES, I WAS SO PROUD. BUT SO DISTURBED."

ARELLANO HERSELF IS WELL VERSED IN EXISTENTIAL CRISES. HOWEVER, DUE TO THE COMPETITIVE NATURE OF QIL, SHE DECIDED NOT TO PARTICIPATE IN THE OFFICIAL SPORT.

"I ALREADY PARTICIPATE IN QIL FOR VOICE

AND VIOLIN," ARELLANO SAID. "I FIGURED THAT PARTICIPATING IN EXISTENTIAL CRISES WOULD BE TOO MUCH ON MY PLATE FOR A MERE McCALLUM STUDENT."

ACCORDING TO ARELLANO, McCALLUM STUDENTS ARE WORSE THAN LASA STUDENTS. SHE SAYS THIS IS AN OBJECTIVE FACT.

"I TOTALLY DID NOT SAY THAT," ARELLANO SAID. SHUT UP.

QIL JUDGE AND MOST ATTRACTIVE ACTRESS EVER KEIRA KNIGHTLEY IS INSPIRED BY LASA STUDENTS' DRIVE IN THE SPORT. ACCORDING TO HER, SENIOR SOPHIE CHAU'S FROG-HANDLING RELATED EXISTENTIAL CRISIS IS ONE OF THE MOST SEVERE SHE'S EVER SEEN.

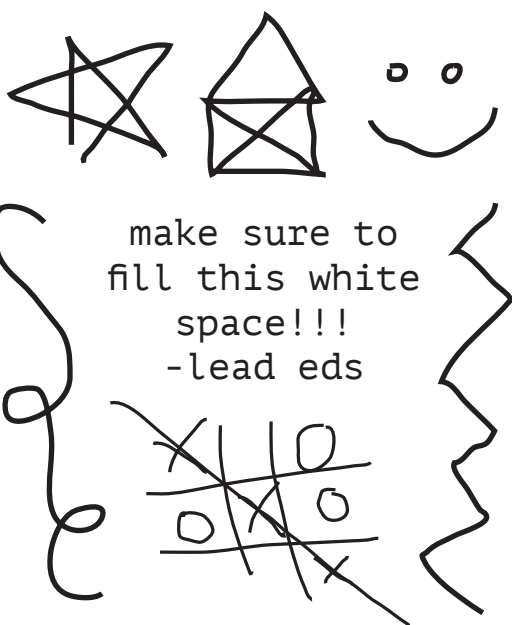

"I MEAN, THIS GIRL WAS FOAMING AT THE MOUTH TALKING ABOUT THOSE D*MN FROGS," KNIGHTLEY SAID. "SHE SAID SOMETHING ABOUT WANTING TO QUIT AND MOVE TO HAWAII, I THINK? TOTALLY RELATE, GIRL. BEING THE MOST ATTRACTIVE ACTRESS EVER COMES WITH CHALLENGES. LIKE ONE TIME, WHEN I HAD TO KISS MATTHEW MACFAYDEN. OR WHEN I ACCIDENTALLY PUNTED HIM INTO THE SUN AT FULL FORCE. MY MANAGER HAD TO DO A LOT OF WORK TO KEEP THAT FROM GETTING TO THE PRESS. OH CRAP, IS THIS ON THE RECORD?"

YOU HEARD IT HERE FIRST, FOLKS. KEIRA KNIGHTLEY IS RESPONSIBLE FOR THE DISAPPEARANCE OF MATTHEW MACFAYDEN. TBH, I DON'T THINK ANYBODY NOTICED.

"ANYWAY," KNIGHTLEY SAID AFTER RECOVERING FROM THE REALIZATION THAT I WAS ABOUT TO REVEAL THE MOST SAFELY GUARDED HOLLYWOOD SECRET EVER KEPT. "SOPHIE GOT THE GOLD MEDAL. SHE DESERVES IT. I HOPE SHE'S OKAY."

STACIA UNMASKED: THE ILLUSTRIOUS FIGURE UNCOVERED, UNVEILED, AND UNKNOWN

LASA ONION (LIKE ACTUALLY) | special to the litigator

One of the most infamous figures of LASA's hallowed halls, Stacia Crescenzi is a sort of myth to the student body. Yes, we've seen her in the hallways. Yes, we've read her emails. But what do we really know about her? Do you find it at all suspicious that she exclusively communicates via email? One might wonder if it's because she does not want us to hear her voice for extended periods of time. The LASA Onion takes a deep dive into the identity of Stacia, and you'll be shocked at what was found.

Though she comes off as a kind principal nurturing all of her students, a sophomore, who chose to stay anonymous, commented, "I was walking down the hallway one day and I saw Stacia lurking around the corner. She lifted her coffee cup to drink, but there was nothing in it!" She then looked at the 10th grader and gave a piece of advice. "Don't worry about things like pre-calculus. There are many things so much bigger than you can even imagine, things like emails." The student then claimed her pupils grew, transforming her eyes to all black, as she continued to chant, "emails emails emails." This is not what one would expect from a woman covered neck to ankle in TJ Maxx garb and Toms flats adorning her "feet." After hearing this report, The LASA Onion decided to conduct a deeper investigation and was shocked to see what was discovered.

Jo Koerth, Stacia's committed secretary, had some shocking information. "I've never seen her blink or eat," Koerth said. "One time I was on campus late, and when I went into her office to lock up, I found her sitting at her desk staring at a blank computer screen, her mouth was opening and closing but no sound was coming out. When she saw me she turned her head and said in a low raspy voice 'I accepted your friend request', then I turned and ran away as fast as I could." These two events give insight into what Stacia is really up to. However, the LASA Onion was determined to get to the bottom of it.

So, the valiant editors spoke to the one person who keeps all of the LASA secrets tucked under his ponytail. Andy Paulson was hesitant to share what he knew, but he gave one valuable piece of information. "All I'm going to say is I've never seen Stacia and Mark Zuckerberg in the same room together." Paulson said. This was a huge breakthrough in the investigation and all the clues suddenly fit into place. Let's break it down. Both are obsessed with emails and the internet, both have a following of mindless people, both have hair, and both are illusive. They're the same person.

After an in-depth investigation, The LASA Onion has discovered the troubling fact that Principal Zucker-Stacia will be "relocating a substantial part of its operations" to Austin, and using child labor from high schoolers" according to an unpublished article in the Statesman archives. The only explanation for this is the fact that as the student body at LASA grows, there are more students available to do Facebook data mining, which has been marketed to us as "English Class". The science suggests that as students sit bored behind their desks and on computers, we are being sent subliminal messages to mine crypto for Marky Zuck-scenzi, just like the oompa loompas mining chocolate for Mr. Wonka. Every time you write an essay, 3.5 Doge-coins are mined. Every painting made in art class automatically becomes an NFT. Stacia Zucky has realized that splitting her time between Austin and Palo Alto has become increasingly difficult and has thus decided to consolidate her empire. This way, Stacia will be able to rule both enterprises forever.

We as a student group need to work to cut off the hold that Zucker-Stacia has over us. Stop opening the emails. Stop giving them attention. Stop liking LASA's Instagram posts. That's how they fuel their mindless hunger. They feast on the souls of us, the students, through online interactions. So, The LASA Onion implores you, take the power away from Zucker-Stacia. It's in your hands now.

What is she hiding?

Editorial Po(lol)icy

We hold these truths to be self-evident, that all men are created equal, that they are endowed by their Creator with certain unalienable Rights, that among these are Life, Liberty and the pursuit of Happiness.--That to secure these rights, Governments are instituted among Men, deriving their just powers from the consent of the governed, --That whenever any Form of Government becomes destructive of these ends, it is the Right of the People to alter or to abolish it, and to institute new Government, laying its foundation on such principles and organizing its powers in such form, as to them shall seem most likely to effect their Safety and Happiness. Prudence, indeed, will dictate that Governments long established should not be changed for light and transient causes; and accordingly all experience hath shewn, that mankind are more disposed to suffer, while evils are sufferable, than to right themselves by abolishing the forms to which they are accustomed. But when a long train of abuses and usurpations, pursuing invariably the same Object evinces a design to reduce them under absolute Despotism, it is their right, it is their duty, to throw off such Government, and to provide new Guards for their future security.--Such has been the patient sufferance of these Colonies; and such is now the necessity which constrains them to alter their former Systems of Government. The history of the present King of Great Britain is a history of repeated injuries and usurpations, all having in direct object the establishment of an absolute Tyranny over these States. To prove this, let Facts be submitted to a candid world. He has refused his Assent to Laws, the most wholesome and necessary for the public good.

He has forbidden his Governors to pass Laws of immediate and pressing importance, unless suspended in their operation till his Assent should be obtained; and when so suspended, he has utterly neglected to attend to them.

He has refused to pass other Laws for the accommodation of large districts of people, unless those people would relinquish the right of Representation in the Legislature, a right inestimable to them and formidable to tyrants only.

He has called together legislative bodies at places unusual, uncomfortable, and distant from the depository of their public Records, for the sole purpose of fatiguing them into compliance with his measures.

He has dissolved Representative Houses repeatedly, for opposing with manly firmness his invasions on the rights of the people.

He has refused for a long time, after such dissolutions, to cause others to be elected; whereby the Legislative powers, incapable of Annihilation, have returned to the People at large for their exercise; the State remaining in the mean time exposed to all the dangers of invasion from without, and convulsions withfor that purpose obstructing the Laws for Naturalization of Foreigners; refusing to pass others to encourage their migrations hither, and raising the Weather: The weather today is partly sunny but also partly cloudy. It will be cloudy, but also sunny. The clouds will be covering part of the sky, blocking the sun. But in areas where the clouds are not blocking the sky, the sun will shine through. However, this is only the forecast for Austin. In other places, the weather will be different. We're not in those places though, so it doesn't really matter.

Traffic: Today, some streets in Austin will have traffic. Other, less busy streets, will not. Streets that had traffic yesterday will probably have traffic again today. Cars will line up one behind the other and wait for the car in front of them to go. The traffic will probably go away and start again tomorrow at around the same time. If you are planning to drive during the day today, watch out for traffic. It will likely add time to your trip.

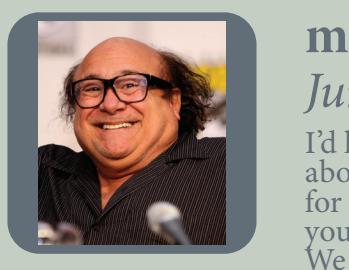

Economic: Today on Wall Street, the stock market went up and down. Some stocks went up, some stocks went down, and others stayed the same. People gained money, and others lost money. Businesses with stocks also gained money or lost money. Some stocks didn't change at all, and some people ended the day with as much money as they started the day with. Investing in the stock market is a good idea, but sometimes it's also not a good idea. It depends.

I'd like to take this opportunity to inform you about your car's extended warranty. No haha, but for real. We should probably start a revolution. Did you know the student to teacher ratio is like 17:1? We could EASILY overrun the school. Although, Stacia has the strength of like 30 students probably, so we'd have to take that into consideration.

LASA Moves Again

The alarm system was fixed shortly after TCBE, but the electrical issues persisted into the school year. Some classes were left without electricity and light for a few days, while others were blessed by a lack of air conditioning. Senior Tina Laerton talked about her experience the first few weeks of school.

"One of my classes was pitch black for a while and had no air conditioning but we made it work," Laerton said. "Our teacher carried on with the lessons as planned. The music sounded terrible because none of us could read the music sheets nor see our instruments, but it felt like we were vibing. It was like hot yoga, but not at all relaxing."

Talk of moving campuses again came around in early December when juniors started complaining about losing their parking permit the following semester due to lack of parking spaces. PFLASA member Jamie Maidup proposed the idea of moving LASA to an open field following her son's complaints about parking.

"I just thought, 'What would give these students more places to park?' and it just came to me: have LASA move to an open field," Maidup said. "That way, students could park wherever they wanted and just be able to go right to class from their cars. Also, there is no need to worry about parallel parking."

According to Emanekaf, many students are on board with the idea of moving again. Although she will miss the new old campus, Emanekaf said she and her friends are excited to see what the structure of classes will look like next year particularly outside.

"I heard somewhere that classes might be like a drive-in movie theater," Emanekaf said. "Like the teachers would just project the notes on a white sheet or curtain and then students would just take notes from their cars. I wonder how many extension cords we'd need for that? Probably like 3 or something."

Newly hired LASA land surveyor Mark Fields has been looking into potential places for LASA's new campus all over Austin. He mentioned the different benefits of each space and the probability of success for students and teachers in that particular field.

"Austin has got some good fields. I should know, I love fields," Fields said. "There's one field with a lot of sticks, which I figured would be good for you know, building stick classrooms. Another one has a stream which I thought would be nice for the kiddos if they get hot. There is some trash down there, but nothing a few weeks of trash pickup can't fix."

The plan for LASA's move has yet to be finalized by the administration, but students and parents alike agree that moving would be beneficial for the school. Maidup and Piedad are hopeful for the move and can't wait to see what the future holds for LASA.

GETTING PREPARED Students set up their computers and chairs in Bartholomew District Park to practice what it will be like to have school outside next year. "I am allergic to grass and bees and oak and pine trees and pollen and I sometimes get rashes on my arms if I'm out in the sun too long, but I'm so excited for the move," Piedad said. "I think LASA unplugged is going to be really cool and since this year was so successful, I'm really looking forward to seeing how next year's move turns out."

BLESSED SILENCE FROM "PULP FICTION" FANBOY'S CORNER

KUSBY BATIE | entertainment editor

Pulp Fiction. Many people have heard of it. It is fairly well rated online, but this movie is infamous now for its popularity among a very specific type of person. It was released in the '90s, but still has pop culture significance today, mostly as a red flag.

Not only is it at the top of rating lists, but also on many red flags as movies lists. It might be telling that Pulp Fiction is on these lists with movies like American Psycho, The Wolf of Wall Street (but only, like, if it's a man who likes it), and Fight Club.

The people around (insert name 1), whose favorite movie is Pulp Fiction, have noticed a change recently. His family and friends are a little confused about his change of actions recently, and his sister remarked on the difference this has made in her morning.

"He's been uncharacteristically quiet recently," (insert name 2) said. "It's really quite surprising, considering usually, as soon as I get near him, he'll start ranting about something or praising Quentin Tarantino and talking about how no one really appreciates cinema. Mornings have been really peaceful when I don't have to hear that on the drive to school."

Iconic posters featuring Uma Thurman have been scattered across men's rooms around the country. (Insert name 1) had one as the only thing hung up in his room, but one of his friends noticed a difference when he visited (insert name 1)'s room.

"For a few years, the poster was the only thing he had up on his wall," (insert name 3) said. "It was kind of just sad."

Every time we hung out to watch a movie he would always try to make me watch Pulp Fiction.

Sometimes I wonder why he tells people that it's his favorite movie. I think he has been scaring people away. But last week when I went over, he had put some other stuff up on his wall, and we watched a movie without him trying to tell me why Pulp Fiction is the best film of all time. It was really surprising and very chill for him."

As (insert name 1) has been quiet for once in his life, he has acquired more of a social life. His classmate says it's such a drastic change and that he is so much more pleasant to be around.

"Our class has been so peaceful lately," (insert name 4) said. "It's been so weird to not hear (insert name 1) and his friends being pretentious and loud in the back of class. It almost makes me want to actually talk to him and figure out what changed because it's so nice, but just so unlike him."

(insert name 1) has been in the school's film elective. The teacher has been relieved the past few weeks with the difference that there has been in class. The teacher is used to one-sided pop culture rants from him, but says he has been better involved in class lately.

"It is so much easier to talk to him in class now," (insert name 5) said. "He's not always on about Tarantino and how he's the only filmmaker worth watching anymore. He's been quieter and more respectful in class, and much more receptive to other ideas. It's such a nice change and very different from how he was before."

Overall the people in (insert name 1)'s life seem completely delighted. Perhaps this story can serve as a lesson to other people who are thinking about making Pulp Fiction their entire personality.

Existential Crises

Senior Sophie Chau could not be reached for comment. Reliable sources say that she is on a private plane to Hawaii eating escargot. You escargot, girl.

Freshman Emma McBride is also going to nationals for Existential Crises. According to McBride, her success would not be possible without the help of her BFF Zoe Klein.

"I am not a freshman," pathological liar McBride said. "I love Zoe so much. I mean truly, 10/10 best person I know. And the best writer. Truly so suave." (That part is true.)

McBride's existential crisis was centered around not knowing how short to cut her nails for guitar class. According to McBride, the tears were what really pushed her over the edge to go to nationals.

"Dude, I cried so hard," McBride said. "I don't know how to use a nail file, and I just..."

Shortly after listening to "Nail Tech" by Jack Harlow, McBride was found at a nail salon speaking Dutch to her nail tech. Still nobody knows what she was saying including the nail tech (stream "Nail Tech" by Jack Harlow). She hasn't been seen since. Maybe she's in the sun like Matthew McFayden. She's certainly hot enough.

Monsters University eighth-grader Andrew Windsor is a friend of McBride. He's worried, too.

"Existential crises are bad for business," Windsor said. "I'm like Moto Moto when it comes to existential crises. I like them big and I like them chunky."

First-grader Olivia Alejandre is considered the weak link of the team. Much to the chagrin of the entirety of LASA, she is still advancing to nationals.

"gurl if u don't quote him on that for whatever it is i will personally come to ur house and kill u," Alejandre said. "existential crises r life."

I'm sure we can now understand why Alejandre is considered the weak link.

Senior and self-proclaimed smartest person ever Harsha Venkataraman also participated in Existential Crises at QIL this year. Venkataraman is one of the few LASA students who did not advance to nationals.

"What can I say," Venkataraman said. "I just have my st together."

Senior Shivani Regan is too busy for QIL. She still has strong opinions about existential crises. "[Emphasized 'existential crises r life']," Regan didn't say. "Existential crises are the most important part of my morning routine. They're why my skin is always so clear."

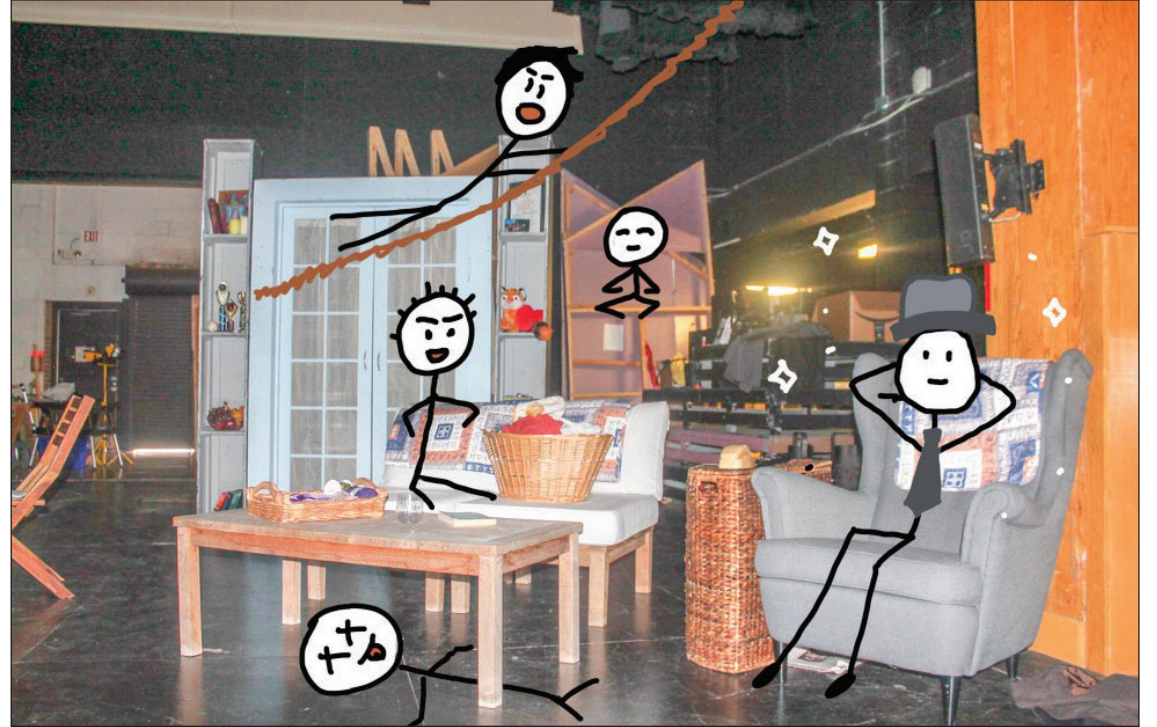

According to Venkataraman, this is arguable. She's not entirely sure what's going on.

"Also, this does not feel like journalism," Venkataraman said.

This quote may have been edited for grammar. Venkataraman is just jealous of me for being such a cool, good writer. You don't need to edit this for editorializing, 'cause it isn't. It's an objective fact.

Existential Crises nationals will be held on April 1 at your mom's house. Make sure to wish Alejandre, Chau, McBride—and whoever else is on the team—luck...soonish.

FINE ARTS LASA has a variety of fine arts courses like theater and art. These allow students to express their creativity through mediums not usually explored in other classes, because they're not fine arts classes. photo by JC Ramirez Delgadillo. graphic by Kayla Le

EGGCELLENT MORNING All LASA students are stuck in the chicken coup while the chickens get ready for the school day to start. And to answer your question, yes, they did cross the road to get there. photo by JC Ramirez Delgadillo. graphic by Kayla Le
